

SafeMoneyMetrics™ Affiliate Program

A Foundation of Understanding and Why You Benefit

“Contemplating the cause of past performance in managed futures, rather than relying on past performance is crucial for building investments with higher probabilities of enduring unknown market conditions.”

Reality underlies performance data. Simply stated, people producing and trading the strategy cause returns, nothing else is possible. Once we understand reality, how it works, how to quantify it, we can build managed futures investments with optimum upside potential, irrespective of any market condition. It is important to understand that performance data and any market condition is only a result, not the cause. SafeMoneyMetrics™ reveals what is real, how to quantify and use it, so everything works for your greater good. Nothing else matters.

The quote below is from one of our investment guides called; “How to Improve the Profit Potential of Managed Futures and Option Investments.”

“Yale University upholds that avoidance of mainstream thinking can increase potential returns with less capital, cost and time. Mr. Swenson has a high regard for independent thought and alternative investments.

David Swenson Chief Investment Officer of Yale University’s Endowment Fund is the author of Pioneering Portfolio Management. His investment strategy and attitude is to avoid main stream thinking associated with large public investments. He perceives that both the thinking and investment structures cause mediocrity and below average results. .”

Why SafeMoneyMetrics?

Managed Futures and all investments are by-products (derivatives) evolving from the fundamental purpose of each market. Specifically, the primary purpose of stocks and bonds are to raise capital for the issuing entity. Real estate facilitates housing development. Energy partnerships facilitate fuel production. Futures and Options economically stabilize and manage risk of the underlying cash market. Keep That Thought. Futures Stabilize Risk, they do NOT increase it!

Once the original purpose of each market is fulfilled, only then are markets repackaged, labeled and sold as investments. These investments ONLY produce returns when their respective financial advisors are successful. Because investment returns are also vulnerable to price or market risk, even the most skilled investment managers may fail to produce positive returns.

People are “conditioned to believe” that investment returns are past performance data. Investment data is outwardly manipulated using statistical analysis. The data is then compared to a benchmark, or industry index to prove its’ validity. The complete story, with colorful computer graphics is packaged and sold. Many of us still believe that the information is real.

The SafeMoneyMetrics™ Affiliate Program is an integrated information, research and risk management service. The information offered reveals and replaces inherent misguided beliefs and applications of investment analysis that accelerate risk and financial loss. Only from a foundation of essential value, can the unsurpassed potential of managed futures evolve. Simply stated, SafeMoneyMetrics™ removes bocks to the inherent presence of success!
